

NO! Cell phone use should NOT be allowed on commercial aircraft. Having experienced the abusive usage of this technology while in various public places I can't imagine the exposure in a confined space such as an aircraft. Loud, profane talkers will not be silenced by a steward telling them to lower their voice. Let them use it in the airport prior to departure or after arrival, not while I have to sit next to or near a user. Unless of course you are also going to mandate a separate soundproof compartment, and when ticketing would you like cell phone or non-cell phone seating!
